VILLA ARIA

DUBROVNIK LAPAD

Situated in Lapad, the green heart of Dubrovnik, beautiful Villa Aria is anciently built but newly renovated. It is located a short ride from Dubrovnik Old Town and surrounded by sea side walking trails, pine forests and public beaches.

This property consists of the main house that features two floors and an attic with a studio apartment, and two adjoining buildings – one bedroom guest house with a kitchen, living room and bathroom and a building with a gym and sauna, as well as a private garage.

There is plenty of garden and terrace space with a pool, sun beds and two showers.

This house was built by father of Dusan Popov who lived here in his early age and was one of the most famous double agents during World War II. He was the original Ian Fleming's inspiration for the James Bond character.
